It's Here! The New Romeo & Dye Section 16 DESKBOOK

Peter Romeo and Alan Dye have just completed the New Section 16 Deskbook, the major—and essential—deskside Section 16 reference for all practitioners.

With so many changes in the Section 16 area recently, the Deskbook is particularly crucial this year—and Peter Romeo and Alan Dye have ensured that it is more comprehensive and practical than the former Section 16 Outline, which now has been replaced by the more valuable Deskbook as part of the Section 16 Annual Service.

In addition to providing up-to-date comprehensive information about all important matters and questions arising under Section 16, the Deskbook will ease your daily practice as it:

- furnishes more detailed, timely information about all the subjects of current interest;
- is more user-friendly, making it a key desktop reference for your daily use;
- facilitates review of other sections of the book relevant to the subject you are researching (e.g., revamping the formatting of each page); and
- contains an expanded index to enable more complete cross-referencing.

As the Deskbook is part of your 2007 subscription to the Section 16 Annual Service, you don't need to take any action to receive the Deskbook unless you require additional copies. The Deskbook will be mailed as soon as you order your Annual Service. If you need additional copies, please return the Form below.

If you are not yet a subscriber or you need to renew your subscription to the Section 16 Annual Service, we encourage you to return the no-risk order form below today, so that we may rush your new "Deskbook" to you.
